

FIRE IN MILWAUKEE.

Millions of Dollars' Worth of Property Destroyed.

SCORES OF BLOCKS BURNED

Many of the Largest Business Firms of the City and Hundreds of Houses Wiped Entirely Out of Existence—Several Lives Reported Lost and It is Believed That Many Others Have Perished.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 28.—Scores of blocks of Milwaukee's largest business firms, together with hundreds of frame houses, were destroyed by fire last night. Commencing at 5:20 o'clock in an oil establishment on East Water street, near the river, flames driven by the fearful hurricane which was blowing spread with fearful rapidity to the lake, over half a mile to the east. It is utterly impossible to estimate the loss with any degree of accuracy. Even a complete list of the big business houses cannot be obtained, while to these must be added the small individual losses of hundreds of property owners whose houses and household goods have been destroyed. As it is, the loss will probably amount to $20,000,000 or $25,000,000.

The tract burned is over half a mile wide and a mile north and south, commencing in the establishment of the Union Oil company, at 275 East Water street. The fire was burning fiercely when the city department reached the scene. Owing to the hurricane that was blowing the men were utterly unable to do anything, and for any practical results might as well have done nothing. In spite of this the men worked bravely and did everything in their power, risking their lives in the burning buildings and endeavoring by tearing down blocks in advance of the path of the fire to check it.

This was in vain, and all night long the flames continued along their way from the establishment on East Water street, where the blaze started. The path of the fire was in the shape of an immense V, the connecting point being in the oil establishment, while one line extended directly east to the lake, the other running to the lake in a southerly direction. Through immense factories from four to seven stories high, which were supposed to be fireproof, the fire spread with as much ease as though they were frame cottages, which they attacked farther east.

After wiping out the factories and wholesale establishments the fire found easy prey in the scores of blocks filled with frame houses, which extend east of Milwaukee street. From these the flames leaped to the freight house of the Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western. These caught on the extreme southern end and in a moment were ablaze along their whole length, over two blocks. Adjoining the depots were the freight yards of the same railroad as well as of the Chicago and Northwestern. These yards were filled with hundreds of loaded cars, all of which were quickly consumed.

As soon as it was seen that the yards were in the path of the conflagration a score of switch engines were set to work to endeavor to get the loaded cars out of the yard. The men worked bravely and succeeded in removing some of the trains, but they could only take them farther south, the yards to the north being blocked. This did no good as the wind suddenly shifted from the northwest to almost direct north and in a moment the cars which had just escaped the flames in one place were burned in another.

It was in these yards that some of the most pitiful sights were seen. In one case more than half a dozen poultry cars full of ducks and chickens were roasted alive.

As soon as the destruction of the railroad yards was assured, the wind as though prompted by malice veered from west to north. Had it remained in the west the fire would have exhausted itself in the lake.

Chief Foley kept the fire confined to one block on East Water street until 7 o'clock, when it got away from him and leaped across the street and began a rapid march toward Lake Michigan, six blocks away, cutting down in short order the following stores: F. Dohem & Company, wholesale drugs; M. Bloch, wholesale liquors; Bub & Kipp's seven story building, furniture factory; Roundy, Peckham & Company, who sell groceries; Jacob Wellauer & Company, wholesale grocers; Johnson Brothers, cracker factory (American Biscuit company) and the National Distilling company.

The entire lower part of the Third ward, inhabited largely by poor Irish families, is devastated. About 300 cottages have been destroyed, and the poor people are wandering about the streets loudly lamenting their losses.

Alarms came in every few minutes from parts of the city widely separated, and it is thought that firebugs helped in the work of destruction. The elegant residence of L. F. Hodh, a member of the board of trade, at Ninth and Cedar streets, two miles from the place where the fire started, was destroyed.

Flying cinders dashed and sped on through the night air, like a mammoth pyrotechnic display scattering in their flight they landed upon the roofs of the large manufacturing establishments, the pride of the city, and in a few minutes building after building was gutted and huge walls cracked and tottered to the ground.

The firemen exhausted their efforts and battled manfully but it was impossible to get mastery of the fire fiend which rode on with the violent winds almost directly east, lapping up block after block in such an alarming situation all efforts of the fire department were almost futile. Telegrams were quickly dispatched to Chicago, Racine and other cities for aid, all of which responded promptly, bringing fire engines and men to assist in the dire calamity.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the various departments of the gas works exploded in quick succession with deafening reverberations. This alone represents $1,000,000, which was the cost of the recently erected plant.

The fire then swept on until it reached its limit, the river and lake marking its boundary.

Only four fatalities have been reported. Undoubtedly there will be more. In the thickly settled blocks where there were only frame dwellings it is barely possible that all could escape. At the morgue three bodies—two brave firemen and an elderly lady—are stretched cold and charred in death. Their names have not yet been learned.

People who were in the vicinity of Jackson and Chicago streets as mere lookers-on, were nearly surrounded by fire. While they were watching its southward progress, a young lady came running down an alley in that section crying that her sick father was in the house and she must get him out. To save her life she was forcibly dragged from the place. Possibly kind neighbors had assisted the sick father out in the absence of the daughter, but if they did not the old gentleman must have perished.

At the emergency hospital, four other victims of the fire are prostrated, two of whom are not expected to survive many hours. These four are men. At this hospital are a number of others who have been recognized. They are as follows: Richard Gartner, twenty years of age; he will recover.

William White, twenty-four years of age, broken leg and several wounds on the head which are dangerous but not fatal.

H. Roeschel, a pattern maker, sixty-nine years of age, left leg broken.

Henry Bergenthal, foreman of the Bergenthal Distillery company, badly burned.

No conception of the immense losses and few details can be gleaned from the monster conflagration. During the course of the fire a number of barns and large livery stables were burned. These were filled with horses, which were liberated by the police. The horses ran wildly about the streets, and before they could be caught a number of persons were run down and badly injured.

The wires of the electric street railways are down and the telephone company's system is prostrated. The electric light service is paralyzed and the gas works have been destroyed. Work in the newspaper offices and telegraph offices was done last night by candlelight.

Many of the scenes of the great fire of 1871 in Chicago were enacted, the dynamite explosions, the leaping flames and crumbling walls adding to the terror of the situation. All the evening men, women and children crowded the streets endeavoring to save their property from the doomed dwellings. Beds and crockery were thrown pell mell from the windows and piled up in the streets. Men rushed frantically from store to store in the wholesale district appropriating wagons or carts with which to remove their goods.

Citizens from all parts of the city assisted in the work, and men dressed in expensive clothes and wearing silk hats could be seen by the score pushing or pulling express wagons or huge delivery trucks loaded down with furniture of all kinds. The streets south of Wisconsin were filled with a pushing and scrambling mass of humanity, nearly every one being loaded down with household goods.

A reporter whose home was one of those burned, seeing the direction of the fire, hurried to his home to remove his sick mother and save what he could of the furniture. Though he had but four blocks to go before he reached the place, the building was on fire when he got there, his mother having been carried out by neighbors.

At the start it looked as though the whole East Side would go. The flames were burning fiercely in the block south of the new home of The Sentinel and there seemed to be but little hope of saving the printing press. Embers and blazing fragments of paper and cloth were being carried through the air by the high wind. Finally a force of the printers were stationed on the roof, and, armed with pails of water, succeeded in saving the building.

There will be much suffering among the homeless poor and outside aid will be necessary. The Germania society began last night the work of raising funds for the victims of the fire.

Among the big establishments destroyed by the fire were:

The Union Oil company, owned by J. M. Mullen and P. J. Ternes, 275 East Water street, where the fire started.

The National Distilling company, 75 to 83 Buffalo street.

Block & Company, wholesale liquors, 275 East Water street.

Bud & Kipp, manufacturers of upholstered furniture, 251-259 Broadway. Roundy, Peckham & Company, wholesale grocers, 249-255 Broadway.

Adahman, wholesale drugs, 267-271 East Water street.

Jacob Wellauer & Company, wholesale grocers, 254-256 Broadway.

J. E. Patten, paints and oils, 266-272 East Water street.

Gas company, three reservoirs and surrounding buildings.

Milwaukee, Lake Shore and Western freight house and cars in yards.

Chicago and Northwestern cars in yards.

Milwaukee Chair company, store and factory.

H. S. Johnston's cracker factory, five-story brick on Broadway.

The burned district includes the south portion of the Third ward, and in a general way is bounded on the north by Buffalo street, on the east by the lake, and on the south and west by the river. On East Water street, where the fire started, the blaze extended a little north of Buffalo street nearly to Detroit. In this block, however, there were several buildings that escaped.

The streets burned entirely, and on which no houses or buildings are left standing are Buffalo, Chicago, Menominee, Corcoran avenue, Erie, Polk, Oregon and Pierce. Besides these East Water street is ruined from Detroit south to the river and Broadway. Milwaukee, Jefferson, Jackson, Van Buren and Carr, from Buffalo street south.

Engine house No. 10 has been burned and five other engines belonging to the local department have been literally melted in an alley before they could be drawn out.

COLLISION ON A BRIDGE.

Two Freight Trains Run Together with Disastrous Results.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 29.—At 7 o'clock yesterday morning there was a terrible wreck on the Big Four railway bridge spanning the Wabash river at this point, two freight trains meeting and crashing through to the depths below. The trains met on the third span of the bridge, at the draw where the boats go through, and the force of the collision was so great that the bridge gave way at that point, making a chasm of ninety feet.

Into this chasm the two engines and half a dozen coal and cattle cars were precipitated, falling into the river, one hundred feet below. A poultry car, loaded with butter and eggs, remained hanging over the edge, partly down. All the other cars clung to the rails. The two engines were badly wrecked, one of them particularly, being broken out of all recognition. One of the engines completely disappeared under the water, while the other is only partly visible.

The accident occurred in this way: A freight had pulled partly off the bridge to make room for another freight train to enter the siding. At this moment through freight No. 42, Wesley Allison, of Mattoon, engineer, dashed on the bridge from the west. Engineer Allison was unable to check his train, and the collision followed. The crash was heard one mile away. A moment after the cracking of the great timbers showed that the bridge was giving away, and the colliding engines and cars began tumbling into the river.

Engineer Allison went down with the wreck and was killed. His body has not been recovered, being buried under a great mass of debris. Engineer Flynn, of the other freight, escaped by holding to the pier, to which he jumped. Four cattle cars are included in the mass piled on the bed of the river, and the howlings of the maimed and imprisoned animals can be plainly heard by the people lining the banks. A stockman, who was on the train, made a miraculous escape.

NITRO-GLYCERINE EXPLOSION.

A Factory Swept Off the Earth and One Man Killed.

LIMA, O., Oct. 29.—At 10 o'clock yesterday forenoon the residents of this city were startled by a terrific explosion, which shook brick blocks and broke the plate glass in the Opera House and the Metropolitan blocks. It was soon learned that the nitro-glycerine factory of the High Explosive company, located about one mile southwest of this city, had blown up and that one man was blown to atoms and four others injured.

Andy Shute, well shooter, whose home is in Bradford, was blown to pieces, only his head being found. Benjamin Dow and Shute were engaged in putting nitro-glycerine in cans when the accident occurred. In some manner the men became aware that the accident was going to happen, and ran out and exclaimed to the men, "Run boys, she is going to blow up," and in a second the explosion occurred, and Shute's body was blown to fragments.

Dow, who was slightly in advance of Shute, was hurled down an embankment and slightly injured, his leg being blown entirely off. He will probably die.

The others injured were:

Benjamin Dowling, teamster.

Henry Schaffner, watchman.

William Porter, badly hurt, not fatal.

Tom Matene, dangerously injured; will probably die.

The building was completely demolished.

The farm house of William Hooker, 1,800 yards from the scene, was totally wrecked and a servant girl injured by falling debris. The farm house of Thomas Placer, a half mile above the Hooker homestead, was also badly damaged.

Killed by a Runaway Car.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., Oct. 29.—A runaway car on the incline plane at the Phillips Glass works at Mapleton last night ran into a crowd of passengers at the Pennsylvania railroad station, killing Archie Dill, William Emple and John Barclay instantly. Miss Nerva Wilson and Daisy Banks were seriously injured.

THE LAST SAD RITES

Over the Remains of the President's Wife.

PEACEFULLY LAID TO REST

Mourning Thousands Greet the Funeral Train on Arrival at Her Old Home—The Old Church Thronged with Sorrowing Friends Whose Love for Her Was Heartfelt and Sincere—Floral Offerings Almost Innumerable.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 29.—President Harrison and the grief stricken members of his personal and official family arrived here at 9:30 o'clock promptly on schedule time and were greeted by thousands of sympathetic friends and admirers. They occupied all points of vantage along the road and crowded the station to its utmost capacity.

It was a quiet throng and manifested its appreciation of the sadness of the occasion by a grave and respectful demeanor. Although the president was personally known to a majority of the crowd, all desire on their part to give vent to enthusiasm was generally repressed. His grief was generally respected, and nearly all the men in attendance removed their hats and bowed their heads when he passed through the station, leading his sorrowing family to the carriages provided for them.

There were no special incidents on the run from Washington to this city, beyond the presence of the usual crowds of sympathetic people at the various stations on the way.

The train arriving at Indianapolis, a delay of half an hour was caused in transferring from the funeral car the emblems that typified the love and devotion of hundreds of friends.

Everything being in readiness the casket was lifted and slowly and reverently the cortege moved out through the sheds, through the Union station to the carriages in waiting. The casket was borne by John B. Elam, the president's law partner, Judge Woods, Hon. E. B. Martindale, General Lew Wallace, Dr. Allen and T. P. Haughey.

In front of the pallbearers were Judge Niblack and W. P. Fishback and in the rear Moses G. McClain and John R. Elder and following them the sorrowing relatives and the president's official family.

The president and daughter walked immediately behind the casket, with the members of his family following and the members of the cabinet next, and the remainder of the party in the rear. The casket was placed in the hearse, every one in sight standing with bare head.

A detail of thirty police officers led the way and were followed by carriages containing the officiating divines, Rev. Dr. Haines and Rev. Dr. Hyde. The carriages containing the pallbearers preceded the hearse. Then came the president's carriage and those of the members of the family, and the members of the cabinet and their ladies, Governor Chase and the state officials, the supreme and appellate court judges, the board of managers of the orphan's home, the delegation from Chicago, Mayor Sullivan, of this city; city officials, and friends of the family.

Men and women packed the sidewalk for the entire distance along the route, and as the hearse came into view the men, as though moved by one common impulse, removed their hats and stood bareheaded until the president's carriage had passed by. From Ohio street to the church the roadway was lined with members of the various local posts of the Grand Army, standing in open order and uncovered.

The service at the church commenced immediately upon the seating of the congregation. The interior had been elaborately draped, and there was a great profusion of flowers and plants. On either side of the pulpit were magnificent pyramids of white chrysanthemums, surrounded by majestic palms. Baskets of cut flowers depended from the side lights. The organ was entirely covered from the cornice to the top, in front and on the sides, with plaited, radiating streams of black and white. At either end of the gallery was an American flag, the stars being covered with crape, set with white stars.

Heavy folds of draping ran the entire length of the edifice on either side above the windows of stained glass. Smilax was stretched between the panels of the walls, while the base of the organ and of the pulpit were banked with flowers.

The services were characterized by the greatest simplicity. As the coffin was carried up the aisle and deposited in front of the chancel the organ pealed forth a soft melody. The choir then sang "Lead, Kindly Light," with beautiful effect, and Dr. Haines offered a short invocation and read a selection from the Scriptures.

Dr. Haines then delivered a brief but beautiful sermon extolling some of the virtues of the deceased.

During the sermon the president sat with head bowed upon his breast, but his careworn and pallid face told of the storm of grief that was raging within, and several times the twitching of the muscles indicated how difficult was his effort to retain his composure in the sad and solemn surroundings.

After a momentary pause, Rev. N. A. Hyde, of the Congregationalist denomination, addressed the throne of grace. By the president's especial desire another favorite selection of the partner of his life's joys and sorrows, "One Sweetly Solemn thought," had been chosen with which to close the service, and softly from among the shrubbery came the melodious strains.

The singers retired; the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Hyde, and the service was at an end. Little time was occupied in reforming the procession. When the last of the funeral party had been escorted to their carriages the cortege moved slowly to Crown Hill cemetery.

With but few exceptions all the private residences along the boulevard displayed emblems of mourning. The cemetery was reached shortly before 1 o'clock. Once again, and for the last time, the casket was lifted from the hearse. The mourners gathered around, and the spectators, of whom there were not less than 1,000, massed themselves in the rear. A passage of Scriptures was read by Dr. Hyde, a final prayer and benediction pronounced by Pastor Haines, and all that is mortal of Caroline Scott Harrison was lowered to its last resting place.

President Harrison and the immediate members of the family were driven from the cemetery direct to the residence of Mr. R. S. McKee, where he rested and afterwards partook of luncheon. Throughout the trying ordeal the bereaved husband bore himself with remarkable fortitude and his effort toward self-control was communicated to the ladies of the party, enabling them to maintain some degree of composure. Mr. Scott, the venerable father of Mrs. Harrison, appeared like one in a dream, and was apparently oblivious to the trying features of the solemn occasion.

The funeral party left on the return to Washington at 5:30 p. m. President Harrison, Mrs. McKee and others of the president's family were quietly driven from the residence of R. S. McKee, where they had spent the afternoon, to the depot, where the remainder of the party had already boarded the train. During the few moments that remained before its departure, the president received the pallbearers and a few other intimates in his private car, and feelingly expressed his gratitude for the part they had taken in the solemn event of the day.

Just before the train left the president dictated and signed the following, with the request that it should be furnished to the local press:

My Dear Old Friends and Neighbors:

I can not leave you without saying that the tender and gracious sympathy which you have today shown for me and my children and, much more, the touching evidences you have given of your love for the dear wife and mother, have deeply moved our hearts. We yearn to tarry with you, and to rest near the hallowed spot where your loving hands have laid our dead, but the little grandchildren watch in wondering silence for our return, and need our care, and some public business will not longer wait upon my sorrow. May a gracious God keep and bless you all. Most gratefully yours,

BENJAMIN HARRISON.

PRIVATE IAMS WINS.

The Plea of No Jurisdiction is Refused by the Court.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 29.—Judge Porter, in the criminal court, has refused the plea of no jurisdiction in the cases against the officers of the Tenth regiment brought by ex-Private Iams.

Attorney Iams filed the motion asking that the special plea filed by the defense be struck from the record. Mr. Iams contended that the plea should be stricken off for the reason that while purporting to be a plea to jurisdiction, it was in fact, a plea to justification.

To the amended plea the prosecution asked to file a demurrer, whereupon Judge Porter remarked: "This is a peculiar proceeding, and the commonwealth is not bound to demur."

Senator Robbins replied that the defense simply claimed that the civil courts had no jurisdiction, as the offense charged could be tried by the military authorities.

Attorney Iams next filed a replication, in which he denies that the national guard of Pennsylvania had any legal existence, and follows this with a denial of all other allegations based upon such legal existence. He denies even that three cheers were given for Berkman in defiance of any legally organized body, or that he refused to make any apology for the alleged offense. Therefore, the prosecution, for Iams, "pray judgment, and that the said James B. R. Streator and Alexander Hawkins may be convicted of the premises in the said indictment above specified."

Judge Porter denied the application to strike off, but entered judgment in favor of the commonwealth on the special plea and the replication filed, and ordered said defendants to answer.

The legal controversy having drawn to a close, John D. Watson opened for the prosecution. William L. Iams was called to the stand. He said: "I am in my twentieth year; in July I was in my nineteenth year, was born in Washington county; was with K company, Tenth regiment, stationed near Swissvale. I joined the company in Wayneburg. I went with my company to Homestead."

Witness next gave the names of the officers in command of the Tenth regiment at the time. Iams told of his punishment and of his arrest. The defense objected to many of the questions by the prosecution and obstructed proceedings by dilatory tactics.

Sailor Wrecked.

BRAZIL, Ind., Oct. 29.—The city is considerably worked up over the wrecking of William Vesper's sailon in the East End about 12 o'clock Thursday night. A party of miscreants fairly tore out the front of the building, and demolished all the back windows. Then the large mirror was shattered, while the glassware was reduced to dust. The loss is about $1,000. There is no clew as to the perpetrators.

Very Unfortunate Affair.

BOSTON, Ind., Oct. 29.—Mrs. Lon Duffin, while chasing a neighbor's hogs out of her field yesterday, tripped and fell upon a small stump which struck her in the stomach. Owing to her physical condition fatal results are threatened. Mr. Duffin was absent from home, and the unfortunate woman laid where she fell until found by her children. Later a child was born and the woman's condition is dangerous.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

For Kentucky, fair colder; north winds.

They do say Postmaster Davis is making votes for the Democratic ticket whenever he speaks. The Democrats should see that he is kept on the stump.

We understand "Andy Cochran" is denying that he wrote a letter to Judge Harbeson urging him to make the race for Circuit Judge. If he wishes to deny it publicly, the BULLETIN will publish his card.

The Republican organs promptly abuse Judge Rae, the ex-Commander of the G. A. R., as "a sorehead." It will take a large supply of abuse to cover all the men of high character who are quitting the degenerate G. O. P., truthfully remarks the New York World.

REA TO SPEAK FOR CLEVELAND.

An ex-Grand Commander of the G. A. R. to Talk for Democracy in Minnesota.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Oct. 26.—Judge Rea, ex-Commander of the Grand Army, who has declared for Cleveland, and who has been severely criticised by Republicans, said to-day that he refused repeated requests to go on the stump for the Republican party in this campaign.

"But will you take the stump for the other side?" he was asked.

"Well, that depends," he replied. "If the newspapers say too much about the matter, I may be compelled to say something in explanation of my position."

"I don't like a party," he said, "that uses the old soldiers as the Republican party used them. Because it votes them pensions it assumes that it has the right to own them body and soul and order them to support anything that bears the name Republican. Thirty years ago I came out and fought for my convictions and I do not see why I should be denied the right to express my convictions now."

The statement was given out from local Democratic headquarters to-night that Judge Rea is to make several addresses for the Democratic party in Minneapolis before the campaign is over.

ATTENTION, DEMOCRATS.

Hear Congressman Brown, Congressman Paynter, Judge Harbeson and Mr. Sallee.

Hon. Jason Brown, one of the leading Democratic Congressmen from Indiana, arrived this morning and will speak at the court house to-night. Congressman Paynter, Judge Harbeson and Commonwealth's Attorney Sallee will also be present. The Democrats of Maysville and surrounding country are urged to turn out and give the speakers an enthusiastic welcome. The public cordially invited. Seats will be reserved for the ladies. Haucke's Reed and Brass Band will furnish music.

Congressman Brown was a resident of Maysville years ago, and has a number of old friends here. While living in Maysville he clerked in the drygoods store of W. W. Lamar, where D. Hunt & Son now do business. One of his fellow-salesmen at that time was Mr. H. C. Barkley, proprietor of the Spot Cash Shoe Store. Mr. Brown is a self-made man. He is a good speaker and the people of his old home should turn out to-night and give him an enthusiastic welcome.

COOLEY MEANS IT.

He Makes a Semi-Official Statement That He Will Vote for Grover.

New York, October 24.—The Evening Post says: The report first published by the Detroit Free Press, that ex-Judge Thomas M. Cooley had determined to vote for Cleveland has been denied vigorously in many Republican quarters, and the Chicago Inter Ocean has gone so far as to print a dispatch from Ann Arbor, in which Mr. Cooley was credited with saying that the report was entirely unauthorized and without foundation.

In order to get at the truth of the matter we wrote to a member of the faculty of the University of Michigan, asking him to give us, if he was able to do so, the facts in the case. His letter received this morning, contains the following: "Judge Cooley authorizes me to say to you that he stands by the statement published in the Detroit Free Press, and that the supposed dispatch of the Inter Ocean is wholly false. He is willing you should say, if you care to, that he does not believe in the McKinley bill, and that he expects to vote for Mr. Cleveland. More than this he does not care to have said, and he is entirely unwilling to publish a letter or take any active part in the campaign."

Confident of New York.

If reports received at the Democratic State Committee can be even half relied upon, the National ticket will receive the electoral vote of the Empire State by 50,000 majority. Lieutenant-Governor Sheehan, Edward Murphy, Hugh McLaughlin and Richard Croker have informed Chairman Harrity, of the National Committee, that there is no doubt whatever of Mr. Cleveland carrying the State. Not one of these prominent Democratic politicians places Mr. Cleveland's majority less than 20,000. Mr. Croker thinks it will be greater than the majority Governor Flower received over Fassett a year ago.—New York World.

STARTLING.

A Statement That Should be Studied Well by the Voters of This District.

A C. and O. Official Makes Some Remarks That Should Settle the Judgeship Contest.

An official of the C. and O. railway company made a startling statement a few days since in regard to the present contest for Circuit Judge in this district.

So startling, indeed, was this statement that the BULLETIN feels that it would not be discharging its duty to the people of the district if we allowed the matter to pass in silence.

The official referred to is a Democrat. He has been a Democrat all his life. This fact is well known among his friends, and they were naturally considerably surprised when it reached their ears a few days ago that the said official contemplated voting for the Republican nominee for Circuit Judge.

A man who is intimately acquainted with the official was sent to have a talk with him and, if possible, learn the cause of the trouble.

The official was seen, was told of the report and was asked if it was true. He replied that it was. He was asked to explain. His reply was that he had a strong incentive for doing so, or he would never think of voting for Mr. Cochran.

"It must be a rather strong incentive to induce you to change," remarked his friend.

"Well, the truth about the matter," said the official, "is our road has never stood any show with Judge Cole."

"Would it stand any show with Cochran?" was asked.

"Why, certainly, it would stand a better show with him than it has had with Cole," was the reply of the official.

The man who was interviewing the official was surprised at the developments. He had not expected any such statements. He is a man of integrity, and the BULLETIN is simply giving what he says transcribed at the interview. Both the men are well and favorably known.

Upon what grounds the official based such a statement the BULLETIN does not know, nor pretend to say. It is well known, however, that Mr. Cochran has been a salaried attorney of the C. and O. for several years and still holds the position, and the official may have presumed that this fact would naturally incline him to lean towards the company if he were on the bench.

In this connection some other very important facts have been recalled since the above statement was made.

An attorney of the C. and O., Judge Sam J. Pugh, of Vanceburg, presided over the convention that nominated Mr. Cochran.

Judge Thomas, of Vanceburg, another attorney of the C. and O., placed Mr. Cochran in nomination at said convention.

Judge B. F. Bennett, of Greenup, another attorney of the C. and O., was present at the convention as a delegate and helped to nominate Mr. Cochran.

Mr. W. H. Wadsworth, Jr., of this city, another attorney of the C. and O., was also present in said convention as a delegate, and took an active part in Mr. Cochran's nomination.

Among the delegates from Bracken to said convention was Dr. Bradford, of Augusta, who is the C. and O.'s Surgeon at that point.

"Judge" Seaton, of Greenup, was present at said convention, and seconded Mr. Cochran's nomination. Mr. Seaton has been a very close friend of the road for years, and has testified so often for the company in its law suits at Greenup that the people up there now refer to him as "the C. and O.'s standing witness."

These are facts that can not be successfully denied.

Was it a mere coincidence that all these officials of the C. and O. were present at the Republican convention and took such an active part in Mr. Cochran's nomination?

Doesn't it look rather suspicious? Coupled with the statements of the official detailed in the first of this article, it will amount to a conviction in the minds of most people that the C. and O. has "a finger in the pie."

Since the above was written it has been learned that the C. and O. official first referred to has been doing some more talking, that substantiates all that was said at the interview already detailed. In conversation with a prominent business man of this city a few days ago, he said he supposed he would have to vote for Mr. Cochran, that "they" had been talking to him (the official); that he was in the employ of the road, and that the company would stand a better show with Mr. Cochran than with the other fellow. The BULLETIN does not know who the official meant when he said "they" had been talking to him.

The above is a plain statement of what appears to be a very plain case. We give the facts, as learned, to the people of this district. We feel it our duty to do so. Every voter should calmly consider the statements detailed herein. He will then be prepared to act intelligently and vote right in this important contest for Circuit Judge.

Aberdeen Marriages (?)

Harrison Bradford, who is posing at Aberdeen as 'Squire Beasley's successor in marrying parties without license, and with no official sanction to marry parties who have license, has been indicted by the grand jury for illegal practices. We understand that the law on the subject is very imperfect, and it is a question whether Bradford should be prosecuted under a criminal charge or whether it be done by civil action. The law imposes only a fine in case of conviction, and that will have to be collected by a civil action, and the consequence is, if he is not a man of means, the prosecution will not amount to anything. There is one thing certain, and that is, the law will be tested and if not sufficient to stop the gentleman the Legislature will be asked to make it sufficiently iron-clad to stop this illegal business at Aberdeen. The people there are tired of it, and propose crushing it out.—Georgetown Gazette.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

A Daughter of Mr. Simon Nelson Accidentally Shot This Morning.

The oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Nelson was accidentally shot about 10 o'clock this morning in front of Owens, Mitchell & Co.'s hardware store.

Jack Maroney, who lives near Mayslick, entered the store with a .45 calibre Colt's magazine rifle, and told one of the clerks he wanted to trade it for another gun.

He had unthoughtfully left it loaded, and while in the act of handing it to the clerk the dangerous weapon was discharged.

The ball passed through the front door, struck the stone step and glancing hit Mr. Nelson's daughter who, in company with a daughter of Jailer Kirk, was passing.

The ball struck the child's right leg a few inches below the knee. Fortunately the wound is only a flesh one, none of the bones being broken. Mr. Kirk's daughter received a slight wound also on the leg.

Mr. Nelson's child was carried to Pecor's drugstore where Drs. Pickett, Adamson and Owens dressed the wound. The shock to the little one was a terrible one, but she is getting along as well as could be expected.

The shooting naturally caused great excitement, and the street was thronged for some time.

The ball passed through a window at the Oddfellows' Hall Clothing House, struck a trunk in the window and was found on the floor.

A pistol was found on Maroney when he was arrested. It is learned he has been trying to play "cowboy" for some time.

NUPTIALS AT GERMANTOWN.

Marriage of Miss Mary C. Savage to Mr. W. A. Pepper Last Thursday.

On last Thursday, at the Christian Church in Germantown, Miss Mary C. Savage, the accomplished daughter of Dr. C. S. Savage, was married to Mr. W. A. Pepper, one of the sterling young men of that community.

The church was handsomely decorated for the occasion, the alcove back of the altar being banked with choice exotics, while the arch was tastefully decorated with myrtle and mistletoe, from the center of which the monograms "S. P." in yellow and red was suspended, the whole presenting a very pleasing effect to the eye.

At half-past 10 Mrs. T. B. Cook took her place at the organ, and as she rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march, down the aisles came the two little cousins of the bride—Jennie Barton Crichton and Mae Hamilton Mannen—followed by the bridal party. Beneath the monogram the happy couple were made husband and wife, Rev. P. H. Duncan, of Ludlow, officiating at the sacred ceremony.

After the ceremony the couple, with the relatives of the families, repaired to the home of the bride, where an elegant collation was served. Mr. and Mrs. Pepper left for Paris on the afternoon train to visit relatives and friends.

The bride was attired in a navy blue costume, while the groom wore the conventional suit of black. The presents were beautiful and costly. Space forbids the mentioning of the donors and their respective tokens of affection and esteem. The best wishes of the writer go with the happy couple.

REV. S. J. HOWARD, the colored preacher jailed at Lexington for seducing a member of his flock, has been expelled from his church.

IT is very important that all sportsmen should know just where to find a large stock of the best brands of breech-loading guns, and every description of ammunition before the opening of the hunting season. The game law will soon be up. A very large stock of guns and everything pertaining to hunting will be found at Frank Owens Hardware Co.'s. and sold very, very cheap. Call and see before purchasing.

THE river gauge at this place is about completed. Captain Alex Calhoun and Mr. Kinney McClanahan made some soundings this week in front of the city and the following shows the depth of water at various points at the present stage: At lower end of Shultz's grade, 16 feet 8 inches; opposite Lower street, 16 feet; Short, 15 feet 4 inches; Wall, 14 feet 6 inches; Sutton, 11 feet 8 inches; Market street, 11 feet 4 inches; Limestone Creek, 7 feet 8 inches; Fifth ward grade, 7 feet 6 inches.

THE new election law does not forget the workman, and so provides that each will have a chance to vote. Every employe has a right to four hours on the day of election in which to cast his vote, and his employer is not allowed to deduct anything from his wages for the time lost. The employe is required, however, to notify his employer the day before that he wants his four hours, but the employer has the privilege of choosing what four hours shall be given to the employe. Under this provision no Democrat can have an excuse that he was unable to get off from work. Remember the polls close at 4 p. m.

BIG MEETINGS.

Democrats of Orangeburg, and Other Points Turn Out to Hear the Issues Discussed.

Yesterday was Democratic day at Orangeburg. That is one of the strongholds of the party, and the untiringly turned out in large numbers to witness a pole-raising and welcome Congressman Paynter, Judge Harbeson and Commonwealth's Attorney Sallee. A Cleveland and Stevenson pole 112 feet in height was raised, after which the crowd adjourned to the school house and listened to a discussion of the issues by the three candidates.

Messrs. Paynter, Harbeson and Sallee spoke at Lewisburg last night to a crowd that completely filled the Baptist Church. This is another Democratic stronghold. The Burr Oaks Single X Club attended in a body also, and the meeting was one of the largest the nominees have yet attended. The Lewisburg Single X Club now has over 100 members. Messrs. Paynter, Harbeson and Sallee were royally entertained at supper by Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Marshall.

Enthusiastic meetings were also held last night at Washington and Lawrence Creek.

THE Mt. A CINCINNATI burglar was caught "dead to rights" the other morning, and twelve hours later he was in the penitentiary at Columbus, having been indicted, tried and convicted in that short period. Quick work. If justice was meted out to all criminals in that way, there would be fewer of them to punish.

W. H. WALLINGFORD, one of the prominent citizens of Newport, is in a serious condition from the effects of blood-poisoning. The lower limbs are swollen to twice their normal size and small eruptions appear, nearly covering the skin. It is presumed that the poison was caused by scratches from some poisonous weed in the country while he was hunting.

THERE are 3,000 voting places in Ohio. A change of four votes in each township and precinct will give Ohio to Cleveland, on a basis of last year's vote. There is not a township in Brown County in which this gain can not more than be made, says the News-Democrat. There is one township in which twenty-five heretofore Republicans will vote for Cleveland, thus making the required gain for six others.

DISASTER AT SEA.

Anchor Line Steamship Roumania Wrecked.

A FEARFUL LOSS OF LIFE.

One Hundred and Thirteen People Perish While Only Nine of All on Board Are Saved—The Vessel Was from Liverpool Bound for Bombay.

LISBON, Oct. 29.—The Anchor line steamship Roumania, Captain Young, went ashore early Friday morning at the mouth of the Arnoya, near Penich, and 113 of the 123 persons on board were lost. The Roumania left Liverpool last Sunday for Bombay. She carried fifty-five passengers, a crew of sixty-seven men and a full cargo of valuable merchandise.

She experienced heavy weather from early on Monday morning. On Tuesday she ran into a furious storm. All her passengers were ordered below and were not allowed on deck again until Wednesday noon. After a few hours of the first clear sailing she had had, the Roumania ran into a thick fog in about 42 degrees north latitude. She proceeded at half speed, and it was supposed well out from the coast, when a violent storm came on.

When the storm struck her the Roumania was but a few miles from shore. The ship made little progress, and the captain was unable to keep her bow to the wind. She went on the rocks almost without warning, for up to the last few minutes the ship's officers did not realize their peril. Heavy seas broke over the ship's decks and many of the passengers, who ran on deck in a panic were swept overboard and drowned. A lifeboat was cut away and an attempt made to lower it, but the boat was swamped by the waves.

For two hours further attempts were abandoned. The storm abated and another boat was lowered. This boat was lowered with passengers. A hundred yards from the ship it capsized and all were drowned. Two boats were started out from the shore, but put back, as the men were convinced that they could not live in such a heavy sea. Another boat was lowered from the Roumania, but when half loaded was dashed against the ship's side and capsized. Fifteen persons who had descended to her were drowned.

Meantime wave after wave had broken over the Roumania, smashing her deck houses and ventilators, carrying away her smokestack and masts and sweeping many of the passengers and seamen overboard. Those still left decided to wait until the storm abated further before attempting to get ashore. After an hour of suspense the seven men and two women who had remained on board, dived the last boat. The storm had subsided and although obliged to ride through a heavy surf, they reached shore in safety. The two women were the only passengers saved. Captain Young is reported to be among the lost.

FRENCH ART AT THE FAIR.

The Greatest Living Painters Will Have Pictures There.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—The French art jury for the Chicago exposition, composed of twenty-eight of the leading painters and sculptors of France, has already passed on over 350 pictures destined for the world's fair.

The jury will meet in a few weeks to pass on the various canvases submitted by artists who are not "hors concours." These, with the pictures by several "hors concours" artists whose names have not yet been sent into the art commission, and with sculptors, will form a remarkably important French fine art exhibit for Chicago.

M. Zuber will send three landscapes, M. Benjamin Constant, the magnificent portrait of his wife exhibited at the Champs Elysees salon of 1891, and two other canvases, one of which is now in America; M. Dameron, "Culture des Fleurs," another picture of this same salon; M. Edouard Danton, "Une Restauration" and "Un coup de Collier;" M. Hippolyte Fournier, "Le Soir;" M. Charles Delort, two military scenes; M. Aime Moriat, two canvases entitled "Bravot" and "Prisonnier;" M. Leroy, "Des aveugles de Jericho" and M. Leopold Levy, "La Mort d'Eurydice."

All of these artists are hors concours at both salons and are among the best of the living French painters. Besides these the following well known painters selected from a long list, have inscribed their names on the register of the commission, but have not yet decided what pictures they will send to Chicago: M. Gerome, Henri Gervais, Harpignies, Isambert, Jean Paul Laurens, La Fere, Le Pontevyn, Leon L'hermitte, Henri Martin, Felix DeVaillfroy, Monchablon, More de Tonn, Raffaelli, Tony Robert Fleury, Dagnan Bouveret, Barau, Biraud, Bonnat, Jules Breton, Bougeau, Casein, Courteirs, Rochegrosse and Madam de Mont Breton.

Affairs at Homestead.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., Oct. 29.—For the first time this week, the deputy sheriff reported this morning that not the slightest reprehensible act had been committed during the night. In addition to the force of deputies brought here Thursday Sheriff McCleary has sworn in ninety-one of the non-unionists as deputy sheriffs. This he says was done for the purpose of allowing them the right to resist assault and aid in the capture of their assailants. They are not to be detailed for duty. These men are those who live in the town and have to pass to and fro through the streets on their way to the mills.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osgood,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINCHELOS,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
